HARVEY TO BRING UP DISARMAMENT

To Council After German Reparations And Mandate Questions Are Settled—Senate, Generally, Satisfied With Appointment.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, May 7—One of the first matters of major international importance which Col. George Harvey, acting as the personal representative of the president of the United States will bring to the attention of the Inter-Allied Supreme Council is the matter of universal or "approximate" disarmament.

This is the clear understanding prevailing here today among those in the senate and house who have been consistently advocating that the administration initiate steps to call a general conference of the nations in Washington. With few exceptions the authors of the half-dozen resolutions on the subject now pending, have agreed to defer pressing for action until the American representatives at the council tables of Europe have sounded out sentiment over there.

Senator Borah of Idaho, author of a rider to the naval appropriation bill which provides for a "naval policy" between the great powers—Great Britain, Japan and the United States—is among those who have not signified willingness to allow the matter to go over. There was considerable speculation today whether the Idaho senator will defer to the known wishes of the president and hold in abeyance his promised action.

The administration, in the language of President Harding himself, is "very cordially disposed" toward disarmament. The president, however, does not feel that the present is a time to initiate steps in this direction because of the unsettled condition of the world. Nor does he feel that it is properly the duty of any one nation to take the lead.

President Harding is of the opinion, it can be stated, that the world's interests can best be served by permitting disarmament steps to originate more or less simultaneously among a group of great powers, such as are represented in the supreme council, and not spring from one power alone. The president and his advisers are fully cognizant of the fact that America is not regarded abroad so altruistic and unselfish as some imagine.

Colonel Harvey's activities in this direction will necessarily be delayed until the German reparations and the Yap mandate questions are permanently disposed of. But at the proper time Colonel Harvey will bring the attention of the other great powers to the need of some restrictive action which will halt the armament race among the nations of the world.

Comment was extremely guarded in senatorial circles today over the administration's decision to again participate in the Councils of European statesmen. While few senators were disposed to speak for publication, it can be stated authoritatively that the news was not particularly pleasing to the irreconcilable group who so bitterly opposed the treaty and league. They drew some comfort, however, in the fact that the American representative, if there had to be one, was Col. George Harvey, the most irreconcilable of irreconcilables toward the Versailles league.

The Democrats who supported President Wilson in the long and bitter fight were well pleased. They pointed out that the position of the United States, so far as representation abroad goes, is exactly the same as it was during the months prior to Mr. Wilson's defeat.

SENATOR WALTON CHAIRMAN

Of Committee To Report On Needed Changes In Corporation Laws.

Senator Clayton R. Lusk and Speaker Machold of the assembly announced on Friday their selection of members of a number of special investigating committees of the legislature. Senator Charles W. Walton of Kingston will be chairman of the committee to inquire into the corporation laws for remedial legislation, to be introduced next year. The committee is given a $10,000 appropriation. Other members are Senator George R. Fearon of Syracuse, Assemblymen Edmund B. Jenks of Broome, James G. Moore of Brooklyn, Republicans, and John J. O'Connor, Democrat, of New York.

Roland Fuller of 41 Lafayette avenue, has resigned his position as office manager for the Universal Road Machinery Company and has accepted the position as general manager for the Rachelst Medical Appliance Company.

Newburgh Elks May Build.

A movement was started Thursday night looking towards the erection of a new home and club house for Newburgh Lodge of Elks. Whether the present site will be retained either partially or wholly is not yet determined.

CORNELL SHOPS A BUSY PLACE

With a force of two hundred and fifty men at work the Cornell shops on the Strand is one of the busiest industrial plants in Kingston at the present time. It is understood that the Cornell Steamboat Company is contemplating having all of the work on their fleet of over fifty tugs done at the Cornell shops. In the past while considerable work was done on the tugs here there was also considerable work done in New York. The shops have increased the force of boiler makers to take care of the increased work.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS OF WEEK

On Wednesday morning Miss Kathleen M. Lynch of the department of English Literature of Mount Holyoke College spoke in the regular morning assembly at the high school. Miss Lynch's talk was mainly for the girls, although the same would apply to the boys as well.

She told "Why girls should go to college." Her talk was very interesting as it gave the students a little insight on life in the colleges of this country. She said that the social benefits of college life were one of the greatest that anyone could wish for. At the present time, the students and alumnae of Mount Holyoke are working to complete a $3,000,000 endowment fund for their alma mater. Miss Lynch told of the spirit of the workers in this drive and how some of the students had given up most of their spare time in making this drive a success by giving little one-act plays and such amateur entertainments. This was the first talk that has been given in the local high school by a representative of a women's college and it proved to be just as instructive and appealing as any that have been given by any of the representatives of the boys' colleges.

Thursday morning there was another program of speeches and recitations which was, of course, put on by some of the members of the Senior class.

Miss Mary Falvey gave a very clever reading on "The Family Orchestra." That story was about a man and his wife, who were the leaders of an orchestra of their own and their children played the other various parts. Of course, the main part was that which one of the members was always on pitch and the rest of the orchestra was out of tune. That is the way a great many people in this old world of ours reason—"Every one but me is out of pitch."

Toussaint L'Ouverture," a declamation, was delivered by William Albrecht. Albrecht had a very difficult selection, but he proved himself equal to the task and presented his address in a masterful manner.

Miss Harriet Carmen was the next speaker and had as her topic, "Ask John Wise," an original writing. This was a story dealing with etiquette on the street and in the school as a high school boy should be trained. A "freshie" has asked a senior boy about it and his replies were well—rather instructive to the younger brother. No doubt many of the senior boys as well as the other boys of the school learned a few points in etiquette.

"The Story of the Doodang," a Joel Chandler Harris story from "Uncle Remus," was the last selection. Miss Rachel Anderson told this story in a most realistic manner and she had no trouble whatever in keeping her audience interested throughout her entire recitation. Miss Anderson deserves much praise for the clever way in which she impersonated the different characters of the story.

This afternoon the baseball team is playing in Newburgh and they ought to bring home the bacon this time. The local boys white-washed the Poughkeepsie team last week on the latter's field and they haven't lost any of their pep this week. The Newburgh team has the same slab-men that they had last year and they were the ones that the Maroon and White boys knocked all over the field. Stuart and McKeever are the mainstays of the "Hilly City" team. McKeever may be a football player who gets results, but when it comes to baseball he has to use something besides brute strength to win a game. It is thought that he will be in the game this afternoon and it is also expected that the local boys will knock him out of the box.

HIS AUTO KILLED GIRL.

Frank Terhune of Clintondale Hit Poughkeepsie Girl.

Frank Terhune of Clintondale, while driving his commercial truck down Mill street in Poughkeepsie over a week ago, knocked down a six-year-old girl who, it was said, ran directly in front of the car, which passed over her body, one wheel fracturing her skull. The girl was placed in Mr. Terhune's car and he took her to St. Francis's Hospital, where she died a few hours later. People who witnessed the accident stated that no blame could be attached to Mr. Terhune, as he applied the emergency brake and made an effort to turn the car out of the street in order to avoid the child, but she was so close to the car that the accident was unavoidable.—Gardiner Weekly.

A PAINTED AUTO LED TO COURT

Thomas J. Wolf of Broadway Did the Painting and the Car Was Owned by Frank McCardle—Claim and Counter Claim, Had a Hearing Friday.

Early this year Frank McCardle of Highland avenue met Thomas J. Wolf of 338 Broadway on the Strand and the two had a conversation which led to Wolf accepting a job to paint McCardle's automobile black for the sum of $20. Friday Wolf brought suit in city court to recover the contract price from McCardle, who has lodged a counter claim of $62.13 for alleged damages to the car, and also for $100 for the loss of four days' use of the car. Judge W. D. Brinneir, Jr., appeared for Wolf and John M. Cashin for McCardle.

There was no question but that McCardle engaged Wolf to paint the car and that the price was to be $20. Wolf claims he did a first class job. On the other hand McCardle claims that Wolf took the car out for a joy-ride and damaged it to the amount counter claimed, which is denied by Wolf.

Pacan is considered one of the best all round trotters in this section of the country and with good handling will go very fast.

Fire at Lace Mills.

About 9 o'clock Friday evening a loom on fire in the U. S. lace mills caused an alarm of fire to be turned in from Box 114, but by the time the fire department reached the mill the sprinkler system in the mill had extinguished the blaze. The damage was slight.

Boy Shot in Ireland.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Dublin, May 7.—A 14 year-old Irish boy was shot and killed today at Broadford, County Limerick, while attempting to escape a military searching party.

THE BURROUGHS FOREST DEDICATED

Thousands of Trees Planted Near Big Indian by Riordan School Boys Accepted at Unique Ceremony by Conservation Commissioner Staley For State.

The first section of the John Burroughs Memorial Forest, planted on state lands by boys of the conservation unit of the Raymond Riordan School of Highland, was dedicated to the state of New York with simple exercises at Big Indian Friday afternoon, together with a memorial tablet designed by Seumas O'Brien, the Irish poet and sculptor, and both were accepted in the name of Governor Miler for the people of the state by Conservation Commissioner Ellis E. Staley, in his first public appearance since his recent appointment.

Sixteen thousand trees have been planted by the boys of the school, and three of the boy students took part in the exercises. The exercises took place at the entrance to lots 27 and 28, at the edge of the state forest preserve and adjacent to the private road leading to the summer home of Col. E. L. Rochester, U. S. A., retired, of New York city.

The Rev. J. E. Hughson, superior of the Episcopal order of the Holy Cross, whose monastery is near "Riverby," Mr. Burroughs's cottage at West Park, made the invocation which opened the simple ceremonies. He was accompanied by several of the cassocked members of the order.

A Forest Prayer.

Father Hughson's invocation was as follows:

"Most Merciful and Gracious Lord, Who has planted in the wilderness the cedar, and in the desert the fir tree and the pine; Who makest the mountains and the hills to break forth before Thee into singing, and all the trees of the field to clap their hands; strengthen by the might of Thy creating Spirit Thy servants whose hearts Thou has inspired to conserve the glory and usefulness of Thy handiwork; bless the labors of the forester; give us wisdom to plant, and patience to wait for the harvest of the hills. Let Thy blessing be poured out upon this land, and upon all estates of men within its borders, that they may so live and labor as to be worthy to be called trees of righteousness, the planting of the Lord, that Thou mightest be glorified through Jesus Christ Thy Son, our Lord, who liveth and reigneth with Thee in the unity of the Holy Spirit, one God, world without end, Amen."

Boys' Part In Ceremony.

The tablet, which was draped with an American flag, was lowered by Quentin and Marcelino Garcia of the junior forms of the Riordan School, and its formal presentation to the state was made by Walter A. Sutherland, a senior at the school.

Commissioner Staley Accepts.

Conservation Commissioner Ellis B. Staley accepted the tablet on behalf of the state of New York. It was his first public appearance and public utterance since his appointment, and he spoke briefly. He said:

"The gracious manner in which this young man has presented this forest to the state is an honor to the school for which he speaks, an honor to the state and an honor to the great man in whose memory we are gathered here today." Commissioner Staley then paid high tribute to the work of the boys of the Riordan School in the beginnings of the state's memorial to the naturalist.

Commissioner Staley called the attention of his hearers to the fact that while man's physical prowess has been increased a thousand fold through invention and discovery in the last half century, the soul and spirit of man have not advanced apace save on rare instances, illustrated by such men as John Burroughs, who relation to nature he likened to the fragrance of the rose to the flower itself. John Burroughs, said Commissioner Staley, had interpreted nature for men beyond the power of ordinary individuals. He had a capacity for mirroring nature that made people understand as they never had before, to see nature in its greatness and through his eyes of love.

"I feel," he said in conclusion, "that there is something wonderful, something intangible, a divine delight in this simple ceremony here on the mountain top this afternoon. It is as though an ethereal atmosphere surrounded it all. It is a fitting conclusion to the labors of those boys who have poured into the long straight lines of little tree-lings on this mountainside their heart and soul as any may see who pass through the plantings." Commissioner Staley then formally accepted the forest and tablet in the name of Governor Miller as their representative of the people of the state of New York and pledged the state's protection to the memorial. The ceremony concluded with benediction by Father Hughson.

Among Those Present.

Besides students of the Riordan School and their instructors, the fathers from the Holy Cross monastery, and Commissioner Staley, those present included Clifford R. Pettis, superintendent of the division of lands and forests; Seumas O'Brien, designer of the tablet, H. N. Brooks, Jr., of New York city, several of the forest rangers and a number of nearby residents.

GERMANY STILL LACKS CABINET

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Berlin, May 7.—Germany was still without a cabinet today with but four more days remaining in which she must accept or reject the Allied indemnity ultimatum.

Herr Mayer-Kaufbeuren, German ambassador to France, who was summoned to Berlin by President Ebert, was expected to arrive today. It was reliably reported that both the chancellorship and the post of foreign minister would be offered to the ambassador.

Herr Mayer-Kaufbeuren is a member of the Centrist party. His friends said it would be impossible to tell whether or not he would attempt the formation of a new ministry until he had studied the political situation, especially the attitude of the coalition leaders upon the question of accepting the ultimatum.

Hornbeck Bankruptcy Petition Shows Heavy Damages in Federal Court in Automobile Accident Case.

A boy who was playing in the street at Hackensack, N. J., several years ago was injured by the automobile of Irving S. Hornbeck of this city when the latter backed his car in the factory yard of the company by which he is employed as salesman. Previously he had parked his car on the opposite side of the street, but was warned on entering the office that automobile thieves were busy in Hackensack and accordingly decided to follow the advice that he bring his car inside the yard.

The car had moved only a few feet when he noticed a boy lying on the sidewalk with a bloody face. He stopped the car, inquired of the boy, who said he had been struck, where he lived, and then procuring the father, took the boy to the hospital, where his injuries were dressed. There was a deep scalp wound extending also over the eye.

After the boy had been discharged from the hospital, his father sued Mr. Hornbeck on behalf of the boy and also for loss of the boy's services. Mr. Hornbeeck being a resident of New York state and the boy and his father being residents of New Jersey, it was necessary to bring the action for damages in the federal court, which, however, was governed so far as evidence, etc., are concerned, by the laws of New Jersey, where the accident occurred.

A verdict of $12,500 was rendered against Mr. Hornbeck. The character of the judgment was such that bankruptcy proceedings were necessary, and accordingly a petition in bankruptcy has been filed by Mr. Hornbeck in the district court for the southern district of New York, Mr. Hornbeck setting up among his liabilities the judgment obtained against him in the federal court, and including all his assets in his petition in order that they may be distributed among his creditors.

M. E. SOCIETY ADDS 60 TO ROLL

The Kingston District Rural Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church added 60 to its roll at Shandaken on Wednesday and elected J. P. Lambert of Grand Gorge, president.

The district stewards' meeting which followed, was largely attended. More than 100 persons were present from all over the district.

The Rev. G. M. Cranston, the Rev. P. C. Weyant, the Rev. P. N. Chase, E. B. Schepmoes, A. Mauterstock, E. W. Kearney and Dr. J. S. Robinson attended from this city. The Rev. D. H. Piper and Mrs. Piper made the longest trip, coming from Walton.

DELIGHTFUL "RILEY" EVENING.

Miss English-Lillotte Excellent Interpreter of Poet.

The Girl Scouts of the Kingston High School certainly gave the community a rare treat by bringing Miss Mayme English-Lillotte, herself a Hoosier girl and a personal friend and oft times co-reader with the poet to the Kingston High School, where she gave a recital last evening. Those who knew and loved James Whitcomb Riley before knew and loved him better for Miss Lillotte's presentation of his poems, and every moment of the evening was filled to overflowing with the laughter, sometimes close to tears, for Miss Lillotte is a most charmingly realistic reader. She was given an ovation at the close of nearly every number, and graciously gave several encores.

Eagles Turn in a Victory.

The Victory Eagles defeated the Chester Street All Stars to the tune of 11 to 8. The lineup for the Eagles was Harry Houghtaling, pitcher; Joe Demsey, catcher; Tom Fox, 1st base; Ray Fitzgerald, 2nd base; Harry Haffer, 3rd base; Johnnie Houghtaling, short stop; Ray Sickler, c. field; W. Gorman, l. field; H. Fitzgerald, r. field. The pitcher for the loser was J. Boyle, L. Able, catcher. A home run was knocked by Joe Demsey. The Eagles would like to match any other team between the ages of 9 and 14 years.

POLES CONTINUE SILESIAN SUCCESS

Italian Troops Again Suffer Heaviest Losses—Three Towns Besieged—Allies, but 10,000 Strong, Short of Munitions While Poles are Well Supplied.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Berlin, May 7.—Polish rebels have invested Koenigshuette, Glewitz and Nicolai, three important towns in Upper Silesia, and have already inflicted more than 100 casualties upon the Italian troops who have borne the brunt of the fighting upon the Allied side, according to information from Beuthen today.

The Poles were said to be menacing the Oppein district, the seat of the Inter-Allied control commission.

The Allied troops, estimated at more than 10,000 men, are short of arms, but the Poles are well equipped and, in the past few days, have captured a large amount of artillery from the Italian plebiscite troops.

Heavy fighting has occurred in the region of Gross-Strehlitz, where the Poles attacked the Italians with infantry and artillery.

The action of Adelbert Korfanty, the Polish commissioner, in declaring himself president of the Free State of Upper Silesia, has caused much apprehension among the Allies.

A sensation was caused here by an announcement by Herr Dominicus, Prussian minister of interior, in the Prussian landtag, that a French officer and French soldier were captured while assisting Polish insurgents to dynamite the Oppeln-Brig railway.

SUN YAT SEN CHINA'S PRESIDENT

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, May 7.—Dr. Sun Yat Sen has been inaugurated president of China at Canton in the presence of a vast multitude and amid enthusiastic scenes, said a despatch from Hong Kong today.

(Dr. Sun Yat Sen was one of the chief leaders of the Chinese revolution which overturned the old Manchu imperial government ten years ago. After the revolution he served as the first provisional president of China. Since that time a hostile division has grown up between Northern and Southern China.)

CHAMPIONSHIP BASKETBALL.

Big Five vs. Saugerties at Catskill Tonight.

The first game of the county basketball championship will be staged in the Catskill armory this evening when the Colonial Big Five and the Saugerties A. C. spread out their skirmish line against one another. Flip Dowling, New York state league star, will wear a Saugerties uniform. His supporting cast will include Smith, Deer, Howe, Robinson, Styles, Peters and Keeley. The Colonial Big Five will not load up for this game but will use their regular lineup that has been used all season. The entire team has been in many an important tilt and have not been found wanting. The Kingston fans will be assured of seeing their own favorite actors. The Big Five will use Spalt, McGrane, Murphy, Sills, Dolson and Moxham. The preliminary game will be the deciding game in the series between Snyder Hose Co. team of Saugerties and Clark Mains's All Stars of Kingston. Kidd's auto bus will leave the central post office at 7:15 daylight saving time.

The Battle of the Barns.

The pastor of the St. James Methodist Church believes in being up-to-date, in touch with modern movements, and so is in sympathy not only with daylight-saving, but also with the early closing idea of the summer time. Church services should not be long and monotonous, but brief and bright. From now on during the summer the Sunday night services will be, "brief and bright," not lasting more than three quarters of an hour. The topics will be such as will appeal to thinking people, and the music will be popular. Sunday night the subject will be "The Battle of the Barns—the Fool of the Universe." There will be a hearty welcome and the glad hand of fellowship.

ANTELO TORN TO PIECES BY TRAIN

Spaniard Thought to Have Been Riding Ulster and Delaware Freight From Gilboa Water Project Killed Near Washington Avenue Viaduct.

Manuel Antelo or Ahtelo, born in Madrid, Spain, according to papers found in his clothing, met death this morning about 7:45 o'clock, a few hundred feet from the Washington avenue crossing of the Ulster and Delaware railroad, near the Ontario and Western Fair street yard. Indications are that he was train riding on an Ulster and Delaware freight and that he fell from the bumpers on which he was standing between the trucks. His body evidently caught was dragged quite a distance over the ties until it became loosened when the wheels of the freight cars ran over his body and cut it in two, and mutilated it badly. The legs were on the outside of the track, while the heart and liver were on the other side and the upper part of the body lay between the rails. Part of the side of the head was cut off. It was a most gruesome sight. A man named Quick, employed by Van Etten and Hogan, made the discovery of the body and notified police headquarters and word was sent to Coroner W. N. Conner, who visited the scene and took the mangled remains off the track. Officer James Martin was also quickly at the spot and had a freight going up the Ulster and Delaware road a few minutes after 8 o'clock flagged and stopped until the track was cleared. The parts of the body were turned over to Undertaker William Kukuk by Coroner Conner.

In a pocket of the coat of the dead man was found a number of papers including his passport, identification card bearing his picture and finger prints. One of the cards shows he registered as an alien seaman at Middlesbrough, Dunning street, England, in 1919, and his age was given as 25 years. It bears the seal of the place and is countersigned by the chief of police. The opinion is Antelo was beating his way from the New York water works construction near Gilboa where a number of Spaniards are employed.

D. A. R. CHAPTER HEARS REPORTS

Of Proceedings At Continental Congress—Block Party Under Consideration—Ulster County Gardens Shown From Slides.

There was really an "embarrassment of riches," in the way of reports, entertainment, etc., at the May meeting of Wiltwyck Chapter, D. A. R., held at the Chapter House on Thursday afternoon. In fact, some of the program as planned had to be carried over to the annual meeting which will occur in two weeks.

One of the most important matters considered at the meeting, was that of holding another block party, similar to the one held by the D. A. R. before, the same to occur somewhere about Flag Day, June 14. Further detailed announcement will be made later.

Mrs. Hyman Roosa who has been spending the winter in the south has returned, and being present at the meeting told of the D. A. R. activities in St. Petersburg, Florida, bringing the greetings from that chapter to her home chapter.

Among the reports brought back from the Continental Congress was one of great interest given by Mrs. Henry Van Hoevenberg, telling of the opening of the congress and the address of Mrs. George Maynard Minor, the president general, considered one of the most patriotic addresses ever given by any president general. After recounting what had been done in the past year by the Daughters of the American Revolution as stewards of a great trust, Mrs. Minor dwelt somewhat upon the three national undertakings; the manual for immigrants; the gift of a memorial fountain to Plymouth, in honor of the Pilgrim mothers and the gift to the French government of a painting of a troop ship carrying a convoy of soldiers. Then followed the reports of the general officers, all full of interest in the way of accomplishment.

On Monday evening Vice-President Coolidge, bearing the greetings of President Harding, unavoidably detained, formally opened the congress with an able and inspiring address of welcome. There were also addresses by Sir Auckland C. Geddes, ambassador from England, and J. J. Jusserand, ambassador from France. Mrs. Van Hoevenberg also gave brief sketches of the reports of standing committees as given on Tuesday.

Mrs. T. D. Lewis's report dealt largely with the various social as well as regular congress meetings from Tuesday to the close of the congress. She described the reception given by Mrs. Minor, the president general and national officers on Tuesday evening.

Wednesday evening was one of unusual interest, being devoted almost exclusively to the subject of "The American Indian." Mrs. M. Roe, a missionary to the Indians, put forth a convincing plea for the "open door of opportunity" for the Indian. But the greatest interest centered about Miss Alice M. Robertson, member of congress, who appeared, accompanied by Princess Tsianina, a full-blooded Indian princess, who, possessed of a beautiful mezzo-soprano voice, charmed all who heard her. Miss Robertson in her plea for the Indian—and she spoke out of the early experience of her childhood spent with her missionary family among the Indians—called attention to the fact that fewer Indians were exempted in the World War, than were the men of any other race. Besides the singing of the princess there were other tribal songs given in costume.

On Thursday the Daughters were received by Dr. Rowe, director general of the Pan-American Union, at the Pan-American Union building. Dr. Rowe in his able address expressed the hope that the time might come when there would be an international organization of the Daughters of the Revolutions by which all the world's republics have gained their liberty.

Another important session of Thursday as being a prophesy of the D. A. R. of the future, was that in the interest of the Children of the Revolution, Mrs. Frank W. Mondell, president general of the Children of the American Revolution, being the chief speaker.

On Thursday afternoon occurred the reception by the president and Mrs. Harding at the White House, over 3,200 delegates and members of the congress being received graciously by the chief executive and first lady of the land.

On Thursday evening Dr. Charles A. Eaton of New York delivered an address which set his listeners to doing some deep thinking. The title of the address was "Is America Anglo-Saxon?"

Friday evening was devoted to a beautiful unusual, delightful and instructive entertainment entitled "Living Portraits of American Historic Women," and presented by the Committee on Historical Research and Preservation of Records. A prominent historical woman from each forty states appeared in historic costume, amidst appropriate setting, en tableau, with each of tableaux preceded by music of the period portrayed, sometimes vocal, sometimes instrumental. This unique entertainment closed with "The American Woman of Today" Mrs. George Maynard Minor, president general occupying the center of the stage.

Mrs. Hewitt Boice's report will be given at the annual meeting.

The program for the afternoon, arranged by Mrs. A. T. Clearwater, Mrs. De Forest Smith and Mrs. De Witt Roosa, consisted of the presentation of lantern slides, many of them beautifully colored by Mrs. Smith, of lovely gardens of the members of the Ulster Garden Club, Mrs. DeForest Smith giving a brief but delightful account of each garden as shown.

The hostesses for the social hour that brought the meeting to a close were Mrs. A. V. V. Kenyon, Mrs. Howard Osterhoudt and Mrs. Julius Osterhoudt.

Life's Little Dramas.

Scene—Haberdasher's shop.

Dramatic personae—Haberdasher and patron.

Time—Inconsequential.

Haberdasher—What can I do for you?

Patron—I'm looking for a pair of supporters—the kind that—.

Haberdasher—Right this way, please.

Patron—I don't want the old-fashioned kind. Have you got the kind with hooks—

Haberdasher—You mean the kind without the buckles?

Patron (eagerly)—Yes.

Haberdasher (Producing a pair of the o. f. kind)—You don't care for these?

Patron—No, the kind I want is just a piece of elastic with a tooth arrangement on each end. That kind hurts my legs.

Haberdasher—Ah, I think I think I know what you mean. You mean just a plain strand of rubber, eh?

Patron—Yes.

Haberdasher—About this long? (holding hands about six inches apart)

Patron (still more eagerly)—Yes, that's the kind!

Haberdasher—With prongs on each end to grip the hose?

Patron—That's it exactly.

Haberdasher—Now I'm beginning to understand what you mean.

Patron (bringing forth purse)—How much are they?

Haberdasher—I dunno—I don't handle that kind.

No Doubt.

HUDSON 'PHONE DISTRICT LARGER

As Result of Changes in District Territorial Supervision—D. C. Cox Shifted to Vice Presidency of Holding Company.

For many years past, and during the period of consolidation of telephone properties in order to bring about a unified telephone system in New York state, the up-state territory of the New York Telephone Company has been operated and supervised through three divisions, known as the western division, centering at Buffalo; the Hudson division, centering at Albany; and the central division, centering at Syracuse. The time has now arrived when a new apportionment of territory seems necessary for a more economical and better handling of the company's business. On June 1st, that portion of the central division comprising the sections in and about Geneva, Seneca Falls, Waterloo, Hornell, Bath, Corning, Elmira, Ithaca, Waverly, Owego and Binghamton, will be added to the western division with headquarters at Buffalo. That portion of the central division comprising the sections in and about Auburn, Oswego, Syracuse, Cortland, Oneida, Watertown, Rome, Utica, Frankfort, Ilion, Mohawk, Herkimer and Little Falls will be added to the territory of the Hudson division, which will be called the eastern division, with headquarters at Albany. District headquarters will be retained as at present in Syracuse, Buffalo, Albany Poughkeepsie and Binghamton. Local and district employes will remain as at present, and a few divisional headquarters people will be shifted to Albany and Buffalo as may be necessary. There will be no lessening of local and district representation and supervision; merely a concentration of divisional staff activities.

W. R. Adams, who has represented the New York Telephone Company in Albany for the past ten years, will continue as divisional commercial manager of the eastern division with headquarters in Albany.

A. L. Harder, local commercial manager, will continue his present position with headquarters here.

D. C. Cox, who for the past ten years has been division general manager of the New York Telephone Company, with headquarters in Syracuse, has been selected as the active field vice president of the Friendship Telephone Company. Mr. Cox will continue to be associated with the New York Telephone Company and will represent it in certain public relations work throughout the upstate territory of the New York Telephone Company. He will continue to make his headquarters in Syracuse. Mr. Cox will also become a director on the boards of the various up-state telephone companies which are associated with the Friendship Telephone Company.

The Friendship Telephone Company, which is an operating telephone company and a securities holding company for properties of the New York Telephone Company situated all over the state, has headquarters in New York city. The Friendship Telephone Company with its subsidiary companies connects with the system operated by the New York Telephone Company and its connecting companies so as to provide a unified telephone system for the direct benefit of the public.

B. C. Wolverton, chief engineer of the Friendship Telephone Company, will be located in Syracuse with Mr. Cox.

BEWARE THE WOLF.

Missionaries of thrift are traveling through the country urging people to save, to be thrifty. They sprang to existence with America's entrance in the World War when it was necessary to teach people they must not be prodigal as they had been. The prevailing temptation was to spend recklessly the war wages and war profits as fast as they were earned. Without the help of the public the government would have had trouble in raising money to pay for the war. Help could be enlisted only through thrift campaigns.

The latest apostle of thrift to reach Kingston is a salaried missionary, like his predecessors. That is nothing to his discredit And there is nothing discreditable about his plan, which is for the benefit principally of wage earners and small salaried men and women. The plan is good, just as the plans for the purchase of government securities by installments have proved good; they are good for the government and good for the individual. When it is considered that many people never save a cent except to pay a debt or obligation already contracted, people will readily approve a plan which provides an obligation which must be met at stated intervals. When the obligation has been discharged, the man or woman who has been paying has something to show for it. The government is making thrift popular and is giving to the thrifty the reward which belongs to them. Incidentally the government's plan is heading off wildcat swindlers and gamblers before they have a chance to launch their schemes.

New thrift schemes are not needed. Enough are now in operation, if we look for them. There is a generous supply of gilt-edge investments which can be bought on the installment plan The government securities can be had by the humblest wage earner who is willing to practice thrift. Shares of the local savings and loan associations which are backed by substantial property values are another form of securities in which the wage earner can invest without trouble and pay for them on the installment plan. Various other conservative investments can be obtained on the same plan of installment paying, and there is no need to start any new investment scheme on the plea that it will encourage thrift. In fact, new enterprises intended, apparently, to get people's money on the hypocritical plea that they are organized to promote thrift should be regarded with suspicion. While imitation is the sincerest flattery imitations are not nearly as good as the genuine article.

Just now there are perhaps those who think the world has advanced about as far as it ever will, but in a few years there will be those who will look back on this period and wonder how we ever existed under such primitive conditions. It was ever thus and perhaps ever will be. The wisdom of today is what makes the progress of the morrow, for thoughts that are sound are germinal and sooner or later take root and grow. Who hasn't said, "I thought of that a year ago?" All there is to this is you thought it and somebody else caught the thought and put it into action. It would be great to come back in a hundred years and see the changes.

Speaker Machold said that it was a pleasure to work with Governor Miller. The speaker stated that the chief executive was glad at all times to be shown if he was wrong, and no man was ever more prompt to suggest a change when he saw that he did not possess all the information. This, the speaker held, was the reason why it was possible for the legislature to make progress during the session of 1921. The frequent conference of legislative leaders and governor showed the proper spirit of cooperation.

Former Secretary of the Navy Daniels is busily engaged in setting himself right before a critical public. In a series of articles now appearing in the press he recites how the Navy prepared for the war long before actual hostilities, and the impression is carefully cultivated that it was the foresight of Daniels that got the guns, ammunition, and other supplies all ready weeks before the declaration of war. It reads well, but we must not forget the testimony of the highest officers of the Navy before the Senate Naval Committee that most of the naval preparedness was done either without Mr. Daniels's knowledge or directly contrary to his orders. The preparedness of the Navy was due solely to the pride of those officers in the traditions of the service, and their determination to see them upheld at any cost.

2. What is fox fire?
3. Do respiration and transpiration both take place directly through the leaves of a plant?

Answers to Previous Questions

1. How did birds begin to fly?

Birds are decended from reptiles, and no doubt early efforts at flight were made by small lizard-like forms that, living in trees, did their "flying" by sliding downward through the air from a perch to which they had crawled. The Iguana, seen in Mexico today, follows this method. Early birds were perhaps supported in this elementary flight by winged membranes on both fore and back limbs Gradually the fore limbs developed more power, until the true winged style of locomotion was adopted.

2. Is the Balm of Gilead (Populus candicans Ait.) a native of Canada?

This is a form of poplar that has been extensively cultivated in the north eastern United States and in Canada as a shade tree, and its seeds have escaped more or less, springing up spontaneously, but it is not thought to have been originally indigenous to these districts It is not the same as the Balsam Poplar, very characterteristic of the district along the Mackenzie river, though the latter is also sometimes called Balm of Gilead.

3. How long do butterflies live?

This depends somewhat on latitude and also on the kind of butterfly. The common mourning-cloak has only one brood in the far north, hatched in August. In warmer latitudes this butterfly mates in mid-April, lays eggs in May, from which after the larvaé and chrysalis state—a new broods comes forth in July. This brood begins laying and by September another brood of butterflies is on the wing, but does not mate. It hibernates, mating the following April, and living about until July, when its children are of mating age.

More About "Bashful Mr. Bobbs."

There is a correction to be made as to the cast of characters of the playlet "The Bashful Mr. Bobbs," to be given on May 17 and 18 by the young people of the C. E. Society of the First Dutch Church in the chapel of the church under the coaching of Erastus Osgood. The character of Fred Henderson will be taken by Raymond Safford, not Raymond Sanderson as previously stated, and the "French maid" will be Miss Mary Swart. No end of amusing, interesting and very clever complications arise in connection with the story of the playlet. Marston Bobbs is to meet his fiancee and her family at a charming summer boarding house, but before he can reach the place his cousin, unknown to the family, the "Bashful Mr. Bobbs," because of a disabled automobile reaches the scene first and announces himself as "Mr. Bobbs." Not recognized, suspected of being a burglar, painfully bashful withal, there is a side-splitting mixup which of course works out all right, the heroine being captured and carried off by the bashful gentleman. The participants in the playlet are all greatly interested, missing no rehearsal and consequently they are already showing themselves as capable of giving clever and realistic performances of the characters they portray.

A Confusion of Times.

All kinds of time prevail at North Kortright, Delaware county, now. The creamery and store are running on "daylight saving," school runs on standard time and the church compromises, services commencing at 10:30, sun time. Many of the amiable housewives have set the clocks ahead, which insures an early dinner. This is satisfactory to the men folks, even though they refuse to set ther watches ahead. Some Davenport farmers it is reported have to rise mornings at 3 or 3:30 in order to have the milk ready in time.

House-Cleaning Time

THERE are hundreds of men in Kingston reading this now who will smile in grim humor at the story that it tells.

HOUSE-cleaning time! Yes, and man-moving time. Who of us cares to stick around? None! We are gone, leaving the house to those who have to stay.

SOME kinds of furniture cleans better than others. There are even sensible pieces, of which hundreds are carried by Stock & Cordts, that seldom require cleaning at all; such, for instance, as the Furniture shown above.

NO, there isn't anything fancy about this furniture. The designs, too, are simple—beautifully simple—and simply beautiful. And simplicity, my friends, is the hardest thing in the world to achieve.

Your Responsibility Lives After You

A MAN'S responsibility for his family's welfare cannot, with justice, be laid down even at his death.

For it is equally as necessary for him to provide for a careful and wise administration of his affairs after his death, as it is to acquire the money and property he intends shall be his family's protection.

This can be accomplished by making a will and appointing this company as executor and trustee.

A booklet entitled "Safeguarding Your Family's Future," published by the Trust Company Division of the American Bankers Association, should be of interest to any man who considers his responsibilities. We have copies for distribution.

MILLIONS FOR WAR MEMORIAL

Indiana Legislature Appropriated Nearly $10,000,000 for Legion Structure at State Capital.

A suitable national headquarters building of the American Legion in Indianapolis was assured with the passage of three bills by the state legislature, appropriating almost $10,000,000 for a war memorial structure, which will house the Legion's main offices.

Five city blocks in the heart of Indianapolis will be used for the memorial project. The building will be erected in the middle block, with the remaining plots transformed into a magnificent city plaza. At one exterior of the memorial site is located the Federal Postoffice building, erected at a cost of $6,000,000. Facing the outer end of the plaza is the $3,000,000 city library.

Tentative plans for the construction of the buildings are now in the hands of a state commission, of which Postmaster General Will H. Hays is a member. Selection of the architect will be made by the National Institute of Architecture, following a contest in which all architects of America have been invited to participate. The legislature set aside a fund of $100,000 to defray expenses of the contest and to award the artist whose designs and plans are adopted a prize of $50,000.

DR. T. VICTOR KEENE.

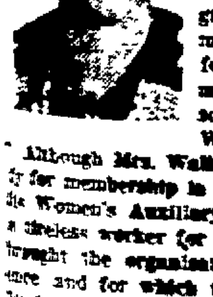
Invitations have been issued to national headquarters of the Grand Army of the Republic, the Women's Relief Corps, Service Star Legion, American War Mothers, Spanish War Veterans and Women's Auxiliary of the Legion to occupy quarters in the Memorial building along with the Legion.

To Dr. T. Victor Keene, national executive committeeman of Indiana, will go much of the credit for making the war memorial possible. Dr. Keene fathered the movement from its infancy and fought for it when other Legionnaires, although supporting the fight, were fearful of success. Dr. Keene was the first officer of the reserve corps of any branch of service called to active duty during the World war. He was a colonel, medical corps, in command of base hospital 70 overseas.

THE "MOTHER OF THE BONUS"

Friendly Title Assigned to Kansas Woman Member of the Legislature and Called "Legislady."

Mrs. Ida M. Walker, first woman member of the Kansas legislature, is honored by American Legion members of that state with the title of "Mother of the Bonus," for it was Mrs. Walker who drew up and pushed through a state bonus, which grants ex-service men one dollar for each day of military or naval service during the World war.



Although Mrs. Walker cannot qualify for membership in the Legion or in its Women's Auxiliary, she has been a tireless worker for the cause which brought the organizations into existence and for which they now stand. During the World war she was state director of women's work in the Belgian relief fund and also served as food administrator for her county. The "Mother of the Bonus" also assists her husband in the publication of a weekly newspaper and is a former president of the Kansas Federation of Women's Clubs.

The advent of Mrs. Walker to the legislature resulted in the coining of a new word. At loss to distinguish between male and female members, the recent session decided to refer to women lawmakers as "legisladies."

HE'S TYPICAL LEGION WORKER

Connecticut Man Is Chosen Department Adjutant for Period of Three Years.

Thomas J. Bannigan has received the unique distinction of being elected adjutant of the Connecticut department of the American Legion for a period of three years. He is also in charge of the service division at department headquarters.

Mr. Bannigan was born in Utica, N. Y. He received his education in schools of that city and in Georgetown Academy. He came to New Britain, Conn., 25 years ago and in 1911 moved to Hartford where he is engaged in the wholesale and retail cigar business.

During the war Mr. Bannigan served as a captain. Returning to Hartford at the end of the war, he gave his efforts to revitalizing his business. In February, 1919, when the city of Hartford needed a capable man to direct its Soldiers, Sailors and Marines' club, Mr. Bannigan was asked to take the job. Despite the call of his business, he abandoned it again, through patriotic motives, to supervise the club.

THOMAS J. BANNIGAN.

A record-maker in the formation and organization of Ran-Locke post No. 8, Mr. Bannigan soon became one of the most prominent Legionnaires in the state and was elected as the first state adjutant. Department headquarters had been without a permanent location, using a room in the Service club as quarters. Br. Bannigan prevailed upon the city authorities to turn the building over to the Legion.

Mr. Bannigan is also a member of the national committee on war risk insurance and compensation and is chairman of the Hartford Elks' national soldiers' fund committee.

TO TURN HOSPITAL TO STATE

Texas Department of American Legion to Relinquish Control of Kerrville Institution.

The Texas department of the American Legion is completing arrangements to turn the Legion Memorial hospital at Kerrville over to the state, in order that the provisions of the bill appropriating $1,500,000 to expand the institution to a capacity of 600 tubercular patients, passed by the state legislature, may be carried out.

The Legion will maintain its hospital organization, which will co-operate with the state health officer, the superintendent of the state tuberculosis sanitarium and the chairman of the state board of control, the officers designated to supervise the expenditure of the appropriation.

Charles W. Scruggs, state adjutant of the Legion, has expressed the appreciation of the ex-service men as follows:

"The governor of the great State of Texas has met our expectations and I am firmly convinced has only consummated the sentiment of the people of Texas by signing the Legion Memorial hospital bill. The Legion is proud to share with the governor and with the legislature our inordinate pride in the consummation of this splendid endeavor and fulfillment of our fundamental duty to Texas' disabled ex-service men."

Kansas Passes Laws for Legion.

That the voice of the ex-service men of Kansas, as represented by the American Legion, has been heard is manifested by the generous enactment of legislation beneficial to veterans of the World war. The legislature of that state has passed the following bills affecting ex-service men: An adjusted compensation bill, in the form of an enabling act; an act granting to all ex-service men of the World war the same rights, privileges and immunities granted to veterans of other wars; an appropriation of $1,900 a year for general expenses of state headquarters of the Legion; an act protecting the Legion and Auxiliary emblems from unauthorized use; exemption from taxation of all property held in the name of the Legion; an act placing under the care of Legion posts erring young boys paroled from industrial schools; and a boxing bill.

HORSE-CHESTNUT.

"I'd like, to know," said Fairy Ybab, "why you are called the Horse-Chestnut tree? You aren't eaten by horses, are you? You don't look like a horse."

The Horse-Chestnut gave a funny low, whispering laugh.

"I don't wonder you ask," said the Horse-Chestnut.

"But won't you do more than just agree with me that it is not surprising I ask, for you evidently do agree with me about that? Won't you answer my question?"

"I thought you asked two questions," said the Horse Chestnut tree.

"I did," said Fairy Ybab.

"Do you want them both answered?"

"I would," said Fairy Ybab," if it is not too much trouble."

"No trouble at all," said the Horse-Chestnut. "I have no engagements. Neither has that tree down the street with its beautiful pink blossoms. What are the fairies doing under that tree?"

"They're playing with the falling pink blossoms," said Fairy Ybab, "and having what they call a pink party."

"How is it you are not with them?" asked the Horse Chestnut.

"Because I am with you," laughed Fairy Ybab. "I was tired and I wanted a nice rest, so I thought if I would climb up one of your high branches, perhaps you would talk to me and tell me something of yourself."

"I would be delighted to, as I said before," the Horse-Chestnut tree answered. "You see, there are some creatures who have engagements all the time. They have to meet a friend at such and such a time or they have to be back for dinner at such a time, or they must be in bed at such another time.

"Aren't Good to Eat."

"Now, the trees are different. We haven't any engagements like that. We trees don't have to go anywhere at all. In fact, we can't go anywhere. We're perfectly satisfied, too.

"You've never heard of a tree pulling itself up by the roots and crying out in a hoarse, leafy way:

"'Dear me, I do want to go to a birthday party.'

"You never heard of a tree doing that, have you?"

"No, I never have," Fairy Ybab answered, as she laughed merrily.

"So I can stay here and answer your questions. I will not go away. Trees are not fretful and impatient.

"Trees don't care about going calling and such things. Well, now, I must answer your question.

"In the first place of all I am called a Horse-Chestnut tree because I have marks between my leaves and twigs which look like horseshoes with nails in them.

"That is the answer to the first question. And the answer to the second question is this: No, I am not eaten by horses. My nuts are much too bitter. Children like to play with them, for they're big and handsome, but they're not good to eat.

"There are your two questions answered."

"Oh, thank you, thank you," said Fairy Ybab. "I am so glad to see you looking so well and handsome, too."

"Ah, my spring dress," said the Horse-Chestnut. "So you like it?"

"I should say I do," Fairy Ybab answered. "It is a lovely dress, and the great white blossoms are very becoming to you."

"I'm glad you like it," said the Horse Chestnut, "for it is the dress we always like to wear in the spring. Or, rather, I should say, it is the kind of dress we always get in the spring.

"We like the same styles. We love to deck ourselves in beautiful blossoms. We like to look tall and gayly dressed when the springtime comes."

"And you do, too, said Fairy Ybab. "You are a lovely looking tree and that is saying a great deal, too, for trees all look lovely in the springtime, but you, Horse-Chestnut tree, look quite gorgeous."

Where the Trains Meet.

"A train leaves Winnipeg," said the teacher, "traveling forty miles an hour. It is followed thirty minutes later by a train travelling 50 miles an hour. At what point will the second train run into the first?"

The class seemed at a loss; that is, all except Willie Green, who was standing in the aisle vigorously wagging his hand.

"Well, Willie," said the teacher.

"At the hind end of the rear car, ma'am," answered Willie.

Strike in New Zealand.

It was in October, 1913, that New Zealand experienced a food and fuel shortage as a result of a general strike, which began with a walkout of shipwrights. New Zealand had been referred to frequently as "a land without strikes" by magazine writers, who found in its labor and social laws material for much praise. Its industrial laws often were held up as models. New Zealand is a British colonial possession, discovered by Tasman in 1642. The settlers have been often at war with the natives, the Maoris. The dominion does not have a socialist government, although it has adopted radically socialistic policies. The government is vested in a governor, appointed by the crown, and a general assembly consisting of a legislative council, appointed by the governor, and a house of representatives, elected.

Chancellor-Fehrenbach

The German cabinet headed by Chancellor Fehrenbach has resigned as a result of the deadlock in the negotiations with the Allied Supreme Council on the indemnity question, according to a dispatch from Berlin. Before resigning the cabinet issued an official statement declaring there was no foundation for the report that Germany has made a new reparations offer to the allies.

Both Treated Alike.

At the local servants' club there were one or two who were trying to preach bolshevism and the removal of class distinction both in society and on the railway and lots of other nice things.

But they found a strong opponent in a chauffeur who drove the local laundry lady on her Monday round of visits.

"No such thing as stuck-uppishness about her," the loyal servitor insisted.

"Well, but don't she order you about?" demanded the disciples of freedom.

"Of course she does," he replied, "but she hauls at me just the same as what she does her husband. She don't make no difference between me an' him even."—Answers, London.

POINT WON FOR GUY STILLMAN

Testimony of Friday So Damaging to Mother, Not to Be Considered in Controversy Over His Paternity.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, May 7.—An important point has been won for baby Guy Stillman, "the silent principal in the Stillman divorce case," by a ruling of Referee Daniel J. Gleason, that neither the testimony of Dr. Hugh Russell of Buffalo, nor the disputed "dear honey" letter, alleged to have been written by Fred Beauvais, the corespondent, shall be admitted into the evidence so far as the controversy over the paternity of the boy is concerned, it was learned today.

This ruling was secured by John E. Mack, guardian at law for Guy. The referee assured Mr. Mack that the Russell testimony and the "dear honey" letter will be considered only as affecting the multi-millionaire's plea for a divorce.

Mrs. "Fifi" Potter Stillman made the angry accusation today that an attempt had been made to "frame up" the case. Counsel for Mrs. Stillman declared that they had learned that one woman, who is expected to testify for the former banker, formerly had close relations with a band of men and women of shady character who were once suspected of blackmailing wealthy men and women at Atlantic City. This woman was not identified but it was said that she was on good terms with the plaintiff who had advanced her money.

The Terry and Tench offices here frequently receive calls asking for "Mr. Borden, in charge of construction on the Rondout Creek Bridge." Borden is not and has not at any time been connected with the bridge work in any capacity, and telephone calls to him merely waste the time of the people who are building it. This is the chap who has been weaving delightful stories of the million dollar hotels and garages he was going to build here, and casually telling of losing and winning thousands on the stock market from day to day.

ENGLAND'S IDLE NOW 5,000,000

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, May 7.—The eyes of the nation turned toward Maidstone today where Premier Lloyd-George was scheduled to make a speech which, it was hoped, would point the way to peace in the British industrial war.

The crisis has been rendered more acute by the strike of the Clyde dock workers against the importation of foreign coal and the threat of 30,000 ship stewards to quit work as the result of a wage cut.

It is estimated that the national coal strike, which has been in effect five weeks, has cost the nation $100,000,000 in mine production alone. The miners have lost approximately $80,00,000 in wages.

Various strikes have brought the number of unemployed in Great Britain up to 5,000,000, but counting the members of families affected, the walkouts have involved 15,000,000 persons.

LEWIS LOSES TITLE

But Zbyzcko Wins By Fluke When Champion Falls.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, May 7—A grappling error by Ed (Strangler) Lewis has today cost him the heavyweight wrestling championship.

The wrestling crown is reposing on the bald brow of Stanislaus Zbyzcko who kinned Lewis to the mat in the surprisingly fast time of 23 minutes, 17 seconds.

The men had been wrestling on fairly even terms when Lewis suddenly made a lunge at Zbyzcko in an attempt to clamp on the headlock. The hold slipped over "Zibby's" bald head and Lewis lost his balance, falling flat on his back. In a trice the Pole was upon him and within five seconds was declared the victor by Referee Bothner.

Sold At Foreclosure Auction.

Everett Fowler as referee sold at auction under a judgment of foreclosure at the court house, at 11 o'clock today, three parcels of land in the town of Rochester. They contained respectively, 48 acres, 60 acres and 5½ acres more or less. The foreclosure action was brought by Walter Davenport against Alexander Greenfield and another. The property was struck off to Virgil B. Van Wagonen for plaintiff for $3,975, the amount of judgment and costs.

Freight Ate Up The Hides.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Montreal, Que., May 7—Percy Champion of Melita, holds some strong opinions about high freight rates today, but they cannot be printed in any family newspaper. He sent the hides of two cows to Brandon for sale. After the freight charges were deducted all he received was 16 cents in postage stamps.

Do You Say "Hiccup?"

The Teacher's World of London, Eng., thinks the spelling of a common word of sufficient interest and importance to call the attention of its readers to the common usage which is a common error in Canada as well as in England. It says: "The newspapers persist in printing 'hiccough,' though the more correct version of the word is surely 'hiccup.' So misleading is the former that many good people are even saying 'hiccuf,' greatly to the delight of new spellers. The dictionary tells us that 'hiccup' was first mistakenly spelled 'hiccough' because of its supposed connection with 'cough.' Not one London daily uses the correct form of the word as far as my observation goes. Dictionaries, unfortunately, are not consulted as often as they might be. How rarely will John Citizen take the trouble of looking up a word in his dictionary!"

Human Bones Under Lava.

In the valley where stands the City of Mexico, and almost in the outskirts of that metropolis, the ancient bones of human beings have been found beneath a bed of lava. Tunnels have been driven several hundred feet beneath the lava bed, and the bones, found in several places, have not been removed. Instead, they have been saturated with silicate of lime to harden and preserve them, and they have been placed in glass cases exactly where the diggers came across them, so as to be viewed by anybody who may be interested. The bones may be 1,000 or 10,000 years old. There is no historical record of the volcanic eruption which made the lava bed. Undoubtedly it occurred a very long time before Cortez visited the capital of Montezuma.

President Obregon of Mexico is a confirmed "family man" and is never happier than when surrounded by his children. The president's love of domesticity is such that it was reported at one time that he would not live in the great National Palace, the official home of Mexican presidents, but would occupy a quiet house set in large grounds on the outskirts of the capital. The accompanying photographs, taken in the grounds of the National Palace, show the president with his sons and daughter. They reveal that at least two of the youngsters evidently have military aspirations. In the insert in Refugio Obregon, the president's pretty 14 year old daughter. President Obregon is shown drilling his boys, Alvaro, 4, and Mayo, 3, in the manual of arms, while his oldest son, Humberto, 13, stands by to correct the youngsters.

Physicians, business men or in fact anyone who owns an enclosed automobile can now equip their automobiles with a wireless telephone.

With autos thus equipped physicians could be in constant communication with their homes for emergency calls, and the business man in touch with his office.

The instrument installed in the automobile, shown above, will work successfully up to five miles and use only a small part of the auto battery current.

The two young men, shown in the photograph, in experimenting, found that it was not necessary to have antennae high up in the air, but found that the wires stretched around the top of the car were successful. Four parallel copper wires run around the top of the auto on six-inch posts fastened to the corners. They then grounded the set to the auto's engines as is done in airplanes. In their experiments they were constantly in touch with their home provided they were in the five-mile limit.

To the recent list of individuals addicted to the marrying habit who got themselves into jams by having a multiplicity of wives was added in New York the other day the name of H. Ashton Newton, vaudeville actor. Three wives faced H. Ashton as he was arraigned in court in New York following his arrest on his arrival from Boston, where he had been appearing. All three of the wives are pretty actresses. Wife No. 1 was Miss Florence Madiera. She married Newton in Monticello, Ill., in 1911. Wife No. 2 married the fascinating actor in New York in 1918. She was Miss Glenn Arcoe. No. 3 was Miss Iva Edmonston, of Port Huron, Mich., where she married Newton in 1919. Newton admitted marrying all three, saying "there are extenuating circumstances." The photo shows Iva Edmondson Newton, wife no. 3 (on left) and Florence Madiera Newton, wife No. 1, as they left court after the much-married actor had been held on the charge of bigamy.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, May 7—Price movements continued at the opening of the stock market today, the motor group being particularly weak while the tobacco issues were again in demand at advancing prices. Studebaker dropped 1⅜ to 87¼; Chandler 1¼ to 80⅝ and Pierce Arrow 1½ to 38. American Tobacco sold up 1¼ to 127⅞ and United Retail Stores and Tobacco Products made fractional improvement. Mexican Petroleum dropped nearly two points to 153¾. Houston Oil, however, rose over 1 point to 85½ and Moderate gains were made by Pan-American Petroleum and Sinclair Oil. Steel common shaded off slightly to 85⅝. Other steel shares were fractionally lower. General Asphalt fell over a point to 75¾. The rails declined fractionally.

Tackling Big Problems.

You never can measure up to a big problem as long as your mind's on yourself. The very bigness of great challenges reveals the caliber of men. The small chap is so overwhelmed that he loses his self-control and ability to do. The big man is steadied when confronted with tasks beyond the average. He knows that more than the usual strength and wisdom is needed and steadies himself for the task. He is none the less conscious of the tremendous interests at stake because he does not tremble. In fact, he may be all aquiver inside, but being master of himself he conceals how keenly he feels the situation.

Benefit of Censorship.

"Do you approve of censorship for the theater?" "Yes," replied the manager; "but only for foreign countries. You can always expect good business for a play whose production has been forbidden abroad."

According to a cable from Berlin, it is rumored there that William H. Wadhams, former Judge of the Court of General Sessions in New York, has been acting as unofficial adviser of Foreign Minister Simons on American affairs and the attitude of the United States towards Germany. Judge Wadhams is now in Berlin establishing a foreign office of the law firm of Hayes & Wadhams, of New York. Judge Wadham's law partner, Garfield Hayes, who is now in New York, strenuously denied that Judge Wadhams has any connection, official or unofficial, with the German government. He said the judge is in Europe on private business only.

Shouldn't Forget the Pocketbook.

"When making a long sea voyage plenty of ready cash should be taken," advises a correspondent in a daily paper. It certainly must be terrible to be shipwrecked and cast upon an uninhabited island without a shilling in your pocket.—London Punch.

Doing Proper Thing.

We may not believe in a personal devil, but there are very few people so constituted that they are able to do the proper thing continually and everlastingly without constant pressure from conscience, Dame Grundy, and fear of what the neighbors will say. Our entire inclination is in the direction of a passive rather than an active existence, except for the purely routine muscular movements, the will is constantly engaged in taking the body by the nape of the neck and casting it afresh into the fray. The backbone may be a hard-working organ, and always on the job, but in comparison to the effort put forth daily by the will, is merely an also ran.—Exchange.

Ancient Egyptian Money.

The ancient Egyptians had a gold coin and silver standard of currency, and their money was in the form of gold and silver ornaments, rings and nuggets, the value of which depended upon weight.

GLASCO TEAM READY.

Have Fine Playing Field and Want to Book Games.

The Glasco baseball field will be in shape to play on May 15, through the generosity and cooperation of the Washburn Brothers Company, who have loaned the Glasco Baseball Association the use of a team of horses and a man to plow, harrow and roll the field. The field is in easy access of the busses running from Kingston to Saugerties. It is situated on the Flatbush road.

In addition to having a good baseball field, Glasco has a fast team this season and is open for games with any fast team. They would like to hear from the local teams, such as the Twilight League nines. Address all communications to Frank Dobkins, manager, Box 87, Glasco, N. Y. Tel. 37-R.

GIRLS' BALL TEAM.

At No. 8 School Ready For Games After May 12.

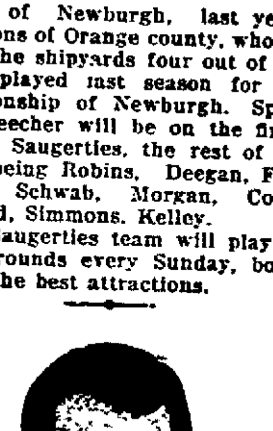
The girls of Kingston are right up to date in play as well as in work and as baseball is now the season's sport the girls of School No. 8 have organized a baseball team Nine of the best players were selected and they decided that they be known as the Princess team. The school colors, blue and white, were adopted as the team colors. It is now in order for the girls of the other schools to make up a team and meet School No. 8 team which challenges any school girl team in this city to a contest any time after May 12. They say they desire until that date for practice, and will try very hard to win if the challenge is accepted.

BASEBALL AT SAUGERTIES.

Clermonts to Play Home Team in Opening Game.

The first baseball game of the season at Saugerties will take place Sunday afternoon, May 8, at 3 o'clock, Saugerties meeting the Clermonts of Newburgh, last year's champions of Orange county, who defeated the shipyards four out of five games played last season for the championship of Newburgh. Speed King Beecher will be on the firing line for Saugerties, the rest of the lineup being Robins, Deegan, Fitzgerald, Schwab, Morgan, Coyle, Desmond, Simmons. Kelley.

The Saugerties team will play on home grounds every Sunday, booking all the best attractions.



Charles Fester, said to be a member of a prominent Pittsburgh family, who was arrested in Los Angeles last February, will go to trial there May 18 on a charge of alleged embezzlement. Fester, who, it is alleged, used the alias of E. B. Grossett, is being sued for annulment by Mrs. Wilcox Grosset, alleging bigamy. Born in Pittsburgh, Fester attended the University of Pennsylvania for three years. An uncle left him $18,000 which it is said, he spent on Broadway in one year.

A Writer's Style.

The greatest poets have, with rare exceptions, been the most indebted to their predecessors or to their contemporaries. It has wittily been remarked that only mediocrity is ever wholly original. . . . . A writer's style, if it have distinction, is the outcome of a hundred styles.—Thomas Bailey Aldrich.

Bossy's Choice.

Three-year-old Kitty strayed down to the barn where a well-fed cow lay contentedly chewing her cud. After watching the regular movement of the animal's jaws for a time an idea struck the little girl. Turning to her father, she asked: "What flavor gum does she like best, dad?"—Country Gentleman.
